

Cards for Dependents

Benefits cards are issued in the name of the account holder only. All cards issued will have the same name displayed.

The benefits card is a signature-based debit card. Although any additional cards issued will have the account holder's name, other authorized users may use the additional cards by signing the back of their card.

---